Viewing Sequencing Schedules

Only trained users can schedule time on sequencers. If you have samples that you would like sequenced, please refer to the instructions for Making a Request.

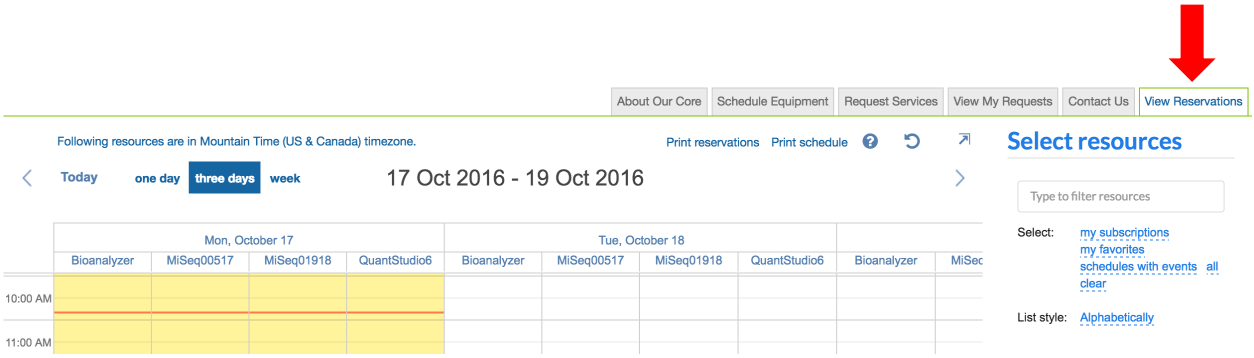
However, if you would like to view the sequencing calendar to see when times are available, you can do so in iLab by following the directions below.

1. Log into iLab using the following link: https://cu.corefacilities.org/account/login

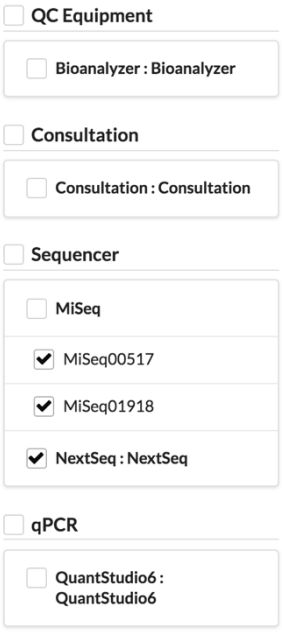
2. On the left side, under core facilities, click Next-Generation Sequencing Facility

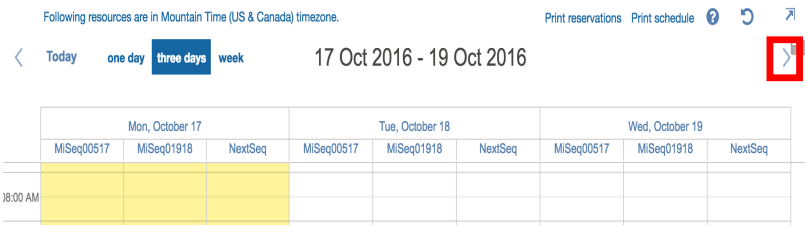
If the link for the Next-Gen sequencing facility is missing, click list all cores in the same area and find the facility

3. Click the View Reservations tab at the top of the screen



4. Check the instruments' schedule you would like to view





5. To view future dates, click the arrow in the upper right hand corner